MrBillyBones Maybe @neilhimsel will show up, if he's not too busy dodging limo drivers. #litchat -2:53 PM Oct 8th, 2010 homeconfessions Hi, Susan. Hi, everybody. Still new-ish to this format but very happy to be here. #litchat -2:53 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @MrBillyBones Neil is always welcome. And hey, @homeconfessions! #litchat -2:54 PM Oct 8th, 2010 homeconfessions I like this idea of addressing both logic and emotion re: publishing. Is there really logic? #litchat -3:01 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @homeconfessions Good point. There's nothing terribly logical about being a writer and all we put ourselves thru... #litchat -3:02 PM Oct 8th, 2010 lanDBarker Good evening #litchat -3:03 PM Oct 8th, 2010

litpark @lanDBarker Hello! #litchat -3:03 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GeneDoucette afternoon... #litchat -3:04 PM Oct 8th, 2010 homeconfessions @litpark ah. I see you said "logistical" and there's the difference!! #litchat -3:05 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GeneDoucette I've decided to challenge Amazon to a death cage match. Good idea/bad idea? #litchat -3:08 PM Oct 8th, 2010

AuthorWilliam RT @litpark: @homeconfessions Good point. There's nothing terribly logical about being a writer and all we put ourselves thru... #litchat -3:08 PM Oct 8th, 2010

AuthorWilliam #LitChat time! -3:08 PM Oct 8th, 2010

LitChat @LitPark is a debut author, but she's been involved in lit and publishing in many ways. Sue, can you share a bit of background? #litchat -3:09 PM Oct 8th, 2010

JAPak RT @GeneDoucette: Ive decided to challenge Amazon to a death cage match. Good idea/bad idea? <I like it! #litchat -3:09 PM Oct 8th, 2010 elizabethbuchan Hi from the UK. I wanted to ask Susan if she thought the publishing process helped writing... or is it a distraction? #litchat -3:09 PM Oct 8th, 2010 lanDBarker @GeneDoucette I think Amazon probably fights dirty! #litchat -3:09 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark Sure. Background: majored in writing in college (after a switch from biomedical engineering), tried to talk myself out of writing.. #litchat -3:10 PM Oct 8th, 2010 homeconfessions @elizabethbuchan good question, probably many answers... #litchat -3:10 PM Oct 8th, 2010 elizabethbuchan @JAPak Intrigued. Why? #litchat -3:10 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GeneDoucette @lanDBarker I'm already learning that, yes. #litchat -3:10 PM Oct 8th, 2010

LitChat Okay gentle #litchattics, we have a guest host today. Let's keep our conversation directed to her. Thanks. #litchat -3:11 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @LitChat ..seemed a bad choice of careers, but kept falling into it. Freelance and lit-mag edited for a decade then started LitPark #litchat -3:11 PM Oct 8th, 2010 elizabethbuchan @homeconfessions Do you enjoy the process of writing? #litchat -3:12 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @elizabethbuchan I think absolutely everything helps if you learn to see it that way. More specific Q? #litchat -3:12 PM Oct 8th, 2010 homeconfessions @elizabethbuchan process of writing is both joyous and torturous at times, truthfully. How about you, Susan? #litchat -3:13 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @elizabethbuchan I don't think enjoy is the word I'd use to describe my writing. It's more like a need or a calling or an itch. #litchat -3:13 PM Oct 8th, 2010

MrBillyBones Does Tillie still talk to you? #litchat -3:13 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @homeconfessions Definitely plenty of torture in the process. #litchat -3:14 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @MrBillyBones You know, something really settled when I finished the last chapter of the novel, it was like the haunting stopped. #litchat -3:14 PM Oct 8th, 2010 homeconfessions @litpark I started putting the torture into a metaphor to deal with it. Called it facing the tiger. #litchat -3:14 PM Oct 8th, 2010 elizabethbuchan @homeconfessions True. It's also like a virus in the bloodstream. Once you begin writing its there for life #litchat -3:15 PM Oct 8th, 2010

MrBillyBones @litpark Oh no! Poor Tillie. #litchat -3:15 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @homeconfessions I think some people really do enjoy writing. I definitely enjoy the poetry of individual sentences. #litchat -3:15 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @elizabethbuchan Ha! I love that. I'm more of the virus in the bloodstream type. #litchat -3:16 PM Oct 8th, 2010 homeconfessions @litpark What an amazing emotional epiphany? Now what? What happens after the haunting? #litchat -3:16 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @MrBillyBones Oh, but it's a good thing. I felt Tillie was haunted and then haunting me until I told her story. Feels healed now. #litchat -3:17 PM Oct 8th, 2010 homeconfessions @litpark Ha! That's your biomed person talking. #litchat -3:17 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @homeconfessions I wait and see what else is haunting me and then I work it out on paper. #litchat -3:18 PM Oct 8th, 2010 maggiedana @elizabethbuchan Hey ... good to see you. Did you get my snail mail note? #litchat -3:18 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GeneDoucette @litpark I LOVE writing when things are running smoothly. It's when I'm stuck that it pisses me off. #litchat -3:18 PM Oct 8th, 2010 elizabethbuchan @litpark Is anything haunting you at the moment? #litchat -3:18 PM Oct 8th, 2010 elizabethbuchan @maggiedana I did, I did. I was so pleased to get it. Thank you #litchat -3:19 PM Oct 8th, 2010 homeconfessions @GeneDoucette that's the tricky part, isn't it? I'm dealing with that now. Pushing through it but it's hard. #litchat -3:19 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @GeneDoucette Yes, I know the feeling. What helps you when you're stuck? I sometimes turn to music or movies. #litchat -3:19 PM Oct 8th, 2010

LitChat @LitPark In your "Evolution of a Book" column for @TNBtweets, you chronicled the unusual birth of UP FROM THE BLUE. What happened? #litchat -3:19 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @elizabethbuchan Yes, there are stirrings, but I wait until the haunting really builds and finds a voice or a room, and then follow #litchat -3:20 PM Oct 8th, 2010

DawnHerring RT @litpark: I don't think enjoy is the word I'd use to describe my writing. It's more like a need or a calling or an itch. #litchat -3:20 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GeneDoucette @litpark honestly? Walking away helps. Doing something else. When I'm stuck it means I did something wrong. #litchat -3:21 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @homeconfessions I think it helps to know you can write badly, just to get a scene or a map down and then edit later. #litchat -3:21 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GeneDoucette @litpark or I shouldn't have tried writing at that time of day, or after that many beers. #litchat -3:21 PM Oct 8th, 2010

CarolyBurnsBass Oh, I like, "a voice or a room." What came first with UP FROM THE BLUE? Tillie's voice or that blue room? #litchat -3:21 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GeneDoucette @homeconfessions I hate pushing. When I push, I churn out crap that needs to be deleted. That's why I usually stop and try later. #litchat -3:22 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @LitChat Oh, it was a loooong journey to publication. Book got lots of attn as short story collection, an editor talked me into... #litchat -3:22 PM Oct 8th, 2010 maggiedana RT @GeneDoucette: When I push, I churn out crap that needs to be deleted. That's why I usually stop and try later. #litchat -3:22 PM Oct 8th, 2010

DawnHerring @litpark I like to use my journal to help work through the stuck mode. #litchat -3:22 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @LitChat ...turning it into a novel then never responded, novel got shopped out, rewrote it, put it way, sold it, unsold it... #litchat -3:23 PM Oct 8th, 2010

RobinSlick Okay, am I here now? #litchat -3:23 PM Oct 8th, 2010

DawnHerring RT @litpark: Yes, there are stirrings, but I wait until the haunting really builds and finds a voice or a room, and then follow #litchat -3:23 PM Oct 8th, 2010

DawnHerring RT @GeneDoucette: @litpark honestly? Walking away helps. Doing something else. When I'm stuck it means I did something wrong. #litchat -3:23 PM Oct 8th, 2010

AuthorWilliam Perfect timing, the heating service guy is here. Will have to check the transcript most likely. :-/ #litchat -3:23 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @GeneDoucette I like that idea of walking away. I agree that being stuck often means you're on the wrong path. #litchat -3:23 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @LitChat What I learned about author/agent relationships... your agent, if you have a good one, is your number one advocate... #litchat -3:42 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GeneDoucette I like stalking an agent for a week or two and then sending photos of their children along with the query. Works pretty well. #litchat -3:43 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @LitChat ...Your agent is the one who's going to see your most vulnerable sides and is going to deliver your toughest news... #litchat -3:43 PM Oct 8th, 2010 mysteriousruth @GeneDoucette #litchat Ha! Haven't tried that one. -3:43 PM Oct 8th, 2010

Saffy RT @GeneDoucette: I like stalking an agent for a week or two and then sending photos of their children along with the query. Works pretty well. #litchat -3:44 PM Oct 8th, 2010 mysteriousruth @LitPark #litchat But if the agent is saying things counter to your fundamental voice then the toughest news is not helpful. -3:45 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @WordsmithJenn Hard to say what to look for because unfortnly the process makes you feel like you have to take whoever says yes. #litchat -3:45 PM Oct 8th, 2010 novhill As usual this time of day I am swamped but had to stop in to say hi and how much I love your book & ask a question... #litchat -3:46 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @mysteriousruth I meant tough news like delivering your rejections. This is the person who sees you at the most vulnerable times. #litchat -3:46 PM Oct 8th, 2010

WordsmithJenn @litpark True! Maybe if they say yes it means you will click on some level. That's what I'm hoping for. #litchat #litchat -3:46 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GeneDoucette @litpark that's VERY true. I've jumped at two immediate "yes" agents to my detriment. #litchat -3:47 PM Oct 8th, 2010

CarolyBurnsBass @LitPark One things I most enjoyed in UP FROM THE BLUE was how each word was like a cairn, meticulous stacked to mark the way. #litchat -3:47 PM Oct 8th, 2010 danish_novelist @LitPark No, agents are the ones who'll see you at your most brilliant and deliver the best news you ever had #litchat #optimist -3:47 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GLHancock Don't forget, the agent is working for you. You hire. You can fire. Sure, agents know more than you, but that's what you buy. #litchat -3:48 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @danish_novelist That, too! #litchat -3:48 PM Oct 8th, 2010 homeconfessions If you haven't read Up From the Blue, read it! Every sentence carves deep, and drives forward to the end last, breathtaking word. #litchat -3:48 PM Oct 8th, 2010 maggiedana @litpark An agent sees you with bed hair and five o'clock shadow. #litchat -3:48 PM Oct 8th, 2010

WordsmithJenn @danish_novelist Love the optimism :) #litchat -3:48 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @CarolyBurnsBass Thank you. I was a poet first, so where I actually LOVE writing is in the word play. #litchat -3:49 PM Oct 8th, 2010 househomeauthor Find an agent who loves your work. No one else will be able to sell it with as much conviction. #litchat -3:50 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @novhill Wow, thank you. I really appreciate that. #litchat -3:50 PM Oct 8th, 2010 househomeauthor I was lucky enough to have several agents interested in my 1st book. I chose the one who reacted emotionally to my writing. #litchat -3:51 PM Oct 8th, 2010

EmilyEWeaver @househomeauthor agree! I had 3 offers but went with the one who "got" the writing the best and was the most enthusiastic! #litchat -3:51 PM Oct 8th, 2010

WordsmithJenn @househomeauthor Dumb question: an agent wouldn't take your work unless s/he loved it? Right? #litchat -3:51 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @MrBillyBones My editor gave me some overall guidance... for ex suggested I do a frame story... but gave me huge freedom. #litchat -3:51 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GeneDoucette Can I say that you have to find an agent that loves your work AND feels he/she can sell it? I've never had those 2 at once. #litchat -3:51 PM Oct 8th, 2010

DawnHerring RT @househomeauthor: Find an agent who loves your work. No one else will be able to sell it with as much conviction. #litchat -3:51 PM Oct 8th, 2010 novhill I'd love to know what you're working on now, and how the pub. of Up From The Blue is impacting your writing routine. #litchat -3:51 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GLHancock To find a successful agent: network, network, network. Old fashioned way is still the best -- referral. #litchat -3:52 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @househomeauthor I agree. The person you work with must absolutely love your work. #litchat -3:52 PM Oct 8th, 2010

CarolyBurnsBass @LitPark How much of Susan Henderson resides in Tillie Harris or reverse? I recognized similarities from what I know of you. #litchat -3:52 PM Oct 8th, 2010 ecollins8 I've had two agents. First tried (barely) to sell my 1st novel. Dumped me. Second loves my work but hasn't tried to sell it. Aggh. #litchat -3:52 PM Oct 8th, 2010

CarolyBurnsBass Good Q! RT @novhill: Id love to know what youre working on now, and how pub of Up From The Blue is impacting your writing routine. #litchat -3:53 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GLHancock @litpark Does it happen often that agents take on works they don't like? #litchat -3:53 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @GeneDoucette Yes, now you're getting into the terribly frustrating place most writers have been in. It can be demoralizing. #litchat -3:53 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GLHancock @ecollins8 I had one who lost the only "good" copy of my ms. (Back in the olden times of typewriters and onionskin copy paper.) #litchat -3:54 PM Oct 8th, 2010 househomeauthor @WordsmithJenn An agent might take it if he/she believed it to be likely to sell, even if it's not his/her individual cup of tea. #litchat -3:54 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @novhill I have a WIP that I'm very excited about but I've done nothing but interviews/guest blogging/essays for months. #litchat -3:54 PM Oct 8th, 2010 homeconfessions @GeneDoucette insightful question and point. #litchat -3:54 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GeneDoucette @litpark actually I'm in a strange middle place. Novel's sold, publisher released it last week, I'm unagented. #litchat -3:54 PM Oct 8th, 2010 maggiedana RT @GLHancock: @litpark Does it happen often that agents take on works they dont like? // Snookie's book, perhaps? #litchat -3:54 PM Oct 8th, 2010 househomeauthor The bottom line is, it's a business. But most agents, just like writers, are in it for love. #litchat -3:54 PM Oct 8th, 2010

MrBillyBones Do you write more for the love of it, now that you are published? #litchat -3:54 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GLHancock @maggiedana Gag me with a Coney! #litchat -3:55 PM Oct 8th, 2010

WordsmithJenn @househomeauthor Wow. I never even considered that possibility. You're right--the agent needs to love it. #litchat #litchat -3:55 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GeneDoucette My last agent LOVED Immortal, didn't consider how to sell it until after contract. Never did figure out how to sell it. #litchat -3:55 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @GeneDoucette Probably will make it much easier to find an agent. Maybe you'll have more of a pick now. #litchat -3:55 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GLHancock @GeneDoucette Are you saying that you sold your ms yourself, or agent did and then you fired him/her? #litchat -3:56 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GeneDoucette @litpark that's my thinking, yes. I'm shaving regularly and wearing Old Spice in case one stops by. #litchat -3:56 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @CarolyBurnsBass You could say that Tillie and I share a lot of similarities. We were both biters, for one thing. #litchat -3:56 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GeneDoucette @GLHancock I sold it myself. #litchat -3:56 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GLHancock @GeneDoucette Kudos! #litchat -3:57 PM Oct 8th, 2010 litpark @MrBillyBones You know, the issues in this book were blocking everything that was behind them. I felt free afterwards, more ideas. #litchat -3:57 PM Oct 8th, 2010

GeneDoucette @WordsmithJenn alas, the story is much more horrific and convoluted. Stop by my blog, look for "on publishing" and "on agents" #litchat -3:59 PM Oct 8th, 2010
