LitChat Five minutes to #litchat w/ @StephanieCowell, author of CLAUDE&CAMILLE and MARRYING MOZART. See you there. 4pmET -12:56 PM May 14th, 2010

LitChat Welcome @StephanieCowell! #litchat -1:03 PM May 14th, 2010

CEMcKenzie1 @LitChat welcome Stephanie! #litchat -1:04 PM May 14th, 2010

stephaniecowell Hello, I am finally on line thanks to Carolyn! #litchat -1:06 PM May 14th, 2010

LitChat We're here with @StephanieCowell as guest host. Please join me in welcoming her to #litchat -1:07 PM May 14th, 2010

LexxClarke Welcome! @stephaniecowell #litchat -1:07 PM May 14th, 2010

stephaniecowell I'm delighted to be here! #litchat -1:08 PM May 14th, 2010

LitChat You are an author of historical fiction based on the lives of actual people. What has been your greatest inspiration so far? #litchat -1:08 PM May 14th, 2010 alittlesandy Yay, I finally have time to participate in one of these again! #litchat -1:08 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell I guess several times and places and people: Mozart, Monet, Shakespeare, their friends and times! #litchat -1:09 PM May 14th, 2010 alittlesandy @StephanieCowell Welcome! Thank you for doing #litchat today. #litchat -1:09 PM May 14th, 2010

FrankDiCesare Welcome @stephaniecowell. I'm new to #litchat. -1:09 PM May 14th, 2010

LitChat Am listening to @StephanieCowell on speakerphone as she clickity-clicks her answers as fast as a hummingbird's wings. #litchat -1:10 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell So pleased to meet everyone! This is really exciting! #litchat -1:10 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Any other historical novelists out there? #litchat -1:10 PM May 14th, 2010

LitChat Welcome, @alittlesandy and @FrankDiCesare. Please ask questions and join the conversation w/ Stephanie. #litchat -1:11 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell LitChat says I speak with a slight British accent. Sorry I can't tweet my accent for you! #litchat -1:11 PM May 14th, 2010

LitChat Where do you get your information about the people whose lives you recreate in fiction? #litchat -1:12 PM May 14th, 2010 editorialdept @stephaniecowell How important is research and historical accuracy to your novels? How much time is spent on research per novel? #litchat -1:12 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell I do huge amounts of research. I guess I researched Shakespeare and Mozart all my life and my parents were artists, so -- Monet! #litchat -1:13 PM May 14th, 2010

CEMcKenzie1 @stephaniecowell it doesn't like CDN/UK spelling. #litchat -1:13 PM May 14th, 2010 deegospel joining #litchat . Hi, all! (waving) -1:13 PM May 14th, 2010 dsaarinen Hey, right now @StephanieCowell (CLAUDE AND CAMILLE) is on #litchat! -1:13 PM May 14th, 2010

LitChat Yes, @stephaniecowell has a lovely British lilt to her voice. Quite lovely sounding, and she's born and raised New Yorker! #litchat -1:14 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell I try to be historical accurate, Edit.Ept, but I think the first thing is to make the people come alive! #litchat -1:14 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Hi, Diane! My fantastic blog tour manager is on line. #litchat -1:14 PM May 14th, 2010 CEMcKenzie1 @stephaniecowell she is fabulous isn't she! #litchat -1:14 PM May 14th, 2010 amyknichols Hi! Joining a little late. #litchat -1:15 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell I started to sound like this when I was nine years old. I think it's the shape of my mouth or something but I always loved England #litchat -1:15 PM May 14th, 2010 FrankDiCesare Do you outline your novels before you begin writing chapters? #litchat -1:15 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Hi, Amy! #litchat -1:15 PM May 14th, 2010 CEMcKenzie1 @stephaniecowell maybe this is why you got interested in historical fiction? #litchat -1:16 PM May 14th, 2010 LexxClarke @stephaniecowell well England is pretty fantastic :o) #litchat -1:16 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell No, I don't outline. A scene appears to be out of nowhere, and then more scenes, and I try to find a plot scenes and characters! #litchat -1:16 PM May 14th, 2010 dsaarinen @CEMcKenzie1 and @StephanieCowell Thank you! :) #litchat -1:16 PM May 14th, 2010 Joe_Wallace @stephaniecowell Hey, Stephanie! My first novel is historical fiction. Congratulations on your success! #litchat -1:17 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell CEM, I was born I think wanting to go to Europe and England, even though I love New York City! #litchat -1:17 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Lexx, England is amazing. History everywhere. An old house there means 1200! #litchat -1:17 PM May 14th, 2010 CEMcKenzie1 @stephaniecowell :) #litchat -1:17 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Joe, congrats on your novel! #litchat -1:17 PM May 14th, 2010 alittlesandy @StephanieCowell I like what you said about scenes and characters. Do you ever miss your characters when you're done writing? #litchat -1:18 PM May 14th, 2010 CEMcKenzie1 @dsaarinen no thank you. Anyone needs a blog tour organized @dsaarinen is the person!! #litchat -1:18 PM May 14th, 2010 CarolyBurnsBass How do you accomplish this on the fly writing w/ historical elements? RT @stephaniecowell: A scene appears to be out of nowhere... #litchat -1:18 PM May 14th, 2010 amyknichols @stephaniecowell Have you ever felt nervous writing fictitious scenes involving real people? Ever afraid of getting it "wrong"? #litchat -1:18 PM May 14th, 2010 bookingmama RT @CEMcKenzie1: @dsaarinen no thank you. Anyone needs a blog tour organized @dsaarinen is the person!! #litchat -1:18 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell I miss my characters so much it's crazy. Once I was in tears missing them and wrote them a letter! Honest! #litchat -1:19 PM May 14th, 2010 editorialdept @stephaniecowell What's a day in the writing life like for you? Do you write every day? #litchat -1:19 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Amy, oh all the time I get scared about getting history wrong. But 1 of the greatest historians told me u have to make up things! #litchat -1:19 PM May 14th, 2010

LexxClarke @stephaniecowell do you think that you miss them more because you have used real people? #litchat -1:19 PM May 14th, 2010
CarolyBurnsBass Me, too. RT @stephaniecowell: CEM, I was born I think wanting to go to Europe and England... #litchat -1:19 PM May 14th, 2010
Joe_Wallace @stephaniecowell So true...you feel like you've been abandoned by your characters! #litchat -1:20 PM May 14th, 2010 amyknichols @stephaniecowell How do you get over that fear? #litchat -1:20 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Most days I start when I get up and write 2-6 hrs, depending. #litchat -1:20 PM May 14th, 2010 Joe_Wallace @stephaniecowell Love your take on historical fiction....it IS fiction! #litchat -1:21 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Lexx, no I miss characters because they are some of the closest people in my life and I live their life and then they're gone. #litchat -1:21 PM May 14th, 2010 BOOKW0rm RT @LitChat: Where do you get your information about the people whose lives you recreate in fiction? #litchat -1:21 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell BookWorm, I read and read and go where they lived and haunt the streets and try to imagine how they felt inside. #litchat -1:22 PM May 14th, 2010 CEMcKenzie1 @stephaniecowell yeah - not like anyone still alive to say different #litchat -1:22 PM May 14th, 2010 deegospel Author @StephanieCowell is sharing her writing world with us live at #litchat now. join us -1:22 PM May 14th, 2010 Joe_Wallace RT @stephaniecowell: You have to invent to make them come to life. Its historical FICTION. #litchat -1:22 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Onence I was writing from inside the mind/body of a six foot Edwardian man and someone came in & scared me! I got back to me fast! #litchat -1:23 PM May 14th, 2010 alittlesandy @StephanieCowell Coffee or tea? :) #litchat -1:23 PM May 14th, 2010 CarolyBurnsBass Does this "make up things" (as your mentor directed) ever get in the way of historical facts? Or vice versa? #litchat -1:23 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell I feel like you're all in the room with me! Where's the bottle of wine?? #litchat -1:23 PM May 14th, 2010 LexxClarke @stephaniecowell I have it, pass your glass :o) #litchat -1:24 PM May 14th, 2010 CEMcKenzie1 @LexxClarke seems like drinking always gets mentioned here - sense a theme #litchat -1:24 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Yes, you have to condense historical facts to make good fiction...I wouldn't move a war! But you have to condense things. #litchat -1:25 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell I like coffee or wine when talking writing with friends...either will do! #litchat -1:25 PM May 14th, 2010 BasseCopette RT @dsaarinen Hey, right now @StephanieCowell (CLAUDE AND CAMILLE) is on #litchat! <- ;-(Its bed time for me boo hoo -1:25 PM May 14th, 2010 LexxClarke @CEMcKenzie1 yes, you could be onto something there! #litchat -1:25 PM May 14th, 2010 editorialdept @stephaniecowell Do you have a favorite period of time or era you like to write in the most? #litchat -1:25 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell I have many periods I love. I think though the Elizabethan is home. #litchat -1:26 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Hello, BasseCopette/aka Claude Monet! #litchat -1:27 PM May 14th, 2010 anjuellefloyd RT @stephaniecowell: Hello, BasseCopette/aka Claude Monet! #litchat -1:28 PM May 14th, 2010 CEMcKenzie1 @stephaniecowell have you read Wolf Hall? #litchat -1:28 PM May 14th, 2010

LexxClarke Which authors do you enjoy reading and how have they influenced you? #litchat -1:28 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell BTW, I type VERY fast though not correctly. I taught myself to type as a child on my mother's old typewriter...bang, bang! #litchat -1:28 PM May 14th, 2010 CarolyBurnsBass I saw in your website that Madeline L'Engle was your mentor.What a treasure! Can you distill her influence into 140 characters? #litchat -1:28 PM May 14th, 2010

LexxClarke @CEMcKenzie1 Hehe, I've recently started reading Wolf Hall! #litchat -1:28 PM May 14th, 2010 CEMcKenzie1 @LexxClarke it's great! As are two books I'm pumping on my FB project (not historical fiction): check it out: http://bit.ly/cZU9s8 #litchat -1:29 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell I did read half of WOLF HALL and thought her writing was beyond gorgeous... but 300 pages of Henry longing for Anne was doing me in #litchat -1:29 PM May 14th, 2010 BasseCopette @StephanieCowell hello ;-) have finished your great book - I loved it. Review to follow soon - and I have a list of Qs for the Q&A #litchat -1:30 PM May 14th, 2010 CEMcKenzie1 @stephaniecowell I hear you - it was a long haul - impressive level of research though! #litchat -1:30 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell I could never distill what Madeleine L'Engle was to me...a world. I met my whole circle, found my husband thru her...we were close. #litchat -1:30 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Basse (Claude??) that's great news. Thanks so much! Does everyone know this man tweets me under the name ClaudeMonet? Spooky! #litchat -1:31 PM May 14th, 2010 alittlesandy Great questions and answers with @StephanieCowell in #litchat! -1:32 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell I think the writing in WOLF HALL is brilliant. Her portrayal of (my mind isn't working) Thomas Campion from the inside. Was in awe! #litchat -1:32 PM May 14th, 2010 CarolyBurnsBass Was afraid of that.Wish I couldve known her. RT @stephaniecowell: I could never distill what Madeleine L'Engle was to me...a world. #litchat -1:33 PM May 14th, 2010 JSLion Hi #litchat. Joining in late again :(-1:33 PM May 14th, 2010 alittlesandy @StephanieCowell Oh, wow. She's one of my favorites. LOVED A Small Rain. #Litchat -1:33 PM May 14th, 2010 ClaudeOMonet @StephanieCowell Well I have to keep my eye on you ;-) #litchat -1:33 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Madeleine L'Engle always used to tell us, "Listen to your characters." And I try to be very quiet and listen. #litchat -1:33 PM May 14th, 2010 qbwells RT @deegospel: Author @StephanieCowell is sharing her writing world with us live at #litchat now. join us -1:33 PM May 14th, 2010 dsaarinen I think you said Madeleine L'Engle gave you away at your wedding? #litchat -1:34 PM May 14th, 2010 LexxClarke @stephaniecowell Cromwell :o) #litchat -1:34 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Every time ClaudeOMonet writes me, I think it's a request from the other dimension and he wishes I'd revise some of CLAUDE&CAMILLE #litchat -1:34 PM May 14th, 2010 CarolyBurnsBass One of the echoes I remember from Madeline L'Engle is "Serve the work." It was in one of her writing memoirs, I think. #litchat -1:35 PM May 14th, 2010 deegospel RT @stephaniecowell: Madeleine L'Engle always used to tell us, "Listen to your characters." And I try to be very quiet and listen. #litchat -1:35 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Sorry, I meant Cromwell! All the blood has left my brain and gone to my fingers. I know that great portrait of Cromwell well. #litchat -1:35 PM May 14th, 2010 LexxClarke @JSLion hey there! #litchat -1:35 PM May 14th, 2010 dmaeroberts RT @StephanieCowell Madeleine L'Engle always used to tell us, "Listen to your characters." And I try to be very quiet and listen. #litchat -1:35 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Yes, Madeleine L'Engle gave me away at my wedding. I'd always call her when in writing angst. #litchat -1:36 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Thomas CAMPION is the composer I think. I used to sing Elizabethan music! #litchat -1:37 PM May 14th, 2010 qbwells RT @stephaniecowell: Madeleine L'Engle always used to tell us, "Listen to your characters." And I try to be very quiet and listen. #litchat -1:37 PM May 14th, 2010

ClaudeOMonet @StephanieCowell I am sure Claude on t'other side is beaming now as he was when he pushed Camille thru the crowds in the salon #litchat -1:37 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Carolyn, yes she'd say "Serve the work." I love that. It gets the writers' ego out of the way. (Do writers have egos? Uhhh..) #litchat -1:38 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Dear "Claude"....but does Claude Monet want royalties? I hope he'd like my book better than Zola's novel on the impressionists! #litchat -1:38 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell P.S. Does everyone know that Zola wrote a novel on the impressionists around 1886 and his good friend Cezanne was furious at him! #litchat -1:40 PM May 14th, 2010 deegospel @CarolyBurnsBass great quote from L'Engle "Serve the Work." #litchat -1:40 PM May 14th, 2010 dsaarinen Ppl ask u why u write about creative ppl -- but I think it's your background. Child of artists, former opera singer, writer. #litchat -1:41 PM May 14th, 2010

LitChat Our topic this week was THE CREATIVE SPECTRUM. What can you add to idea that creativity crosses multiple mediums? #litchat -1:41 PM May 14th, 2010

NikoleHahn RT @deegospel: RT @stephaniecowell: Madeleine L'Engle always used to tell us, "Listen to your characters." And I try to be very quiet and listen. #litchat -1:41 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell I found Madeleine in a convent where she was teaching a writer class/ It was 20 years ago and the friends I made there remain tday #litchat -1:41 PM May 14th, 2010

CarolyBurnsBass Rather like that circle of impressionists. RT @stephaniecowell: ...It was 20 years ago and the friends I made there remain tday #litchat -1:42 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Diane, it never occurred to me to write about anyone other than creative people. I wonder why I never wrote about a queen! #litchat -1:43 PM May 14th, 2010

ElizabethBastos @LitChat #litchat creativity across disciplines: I find that baking and cooking fuels my writing. It's just different enough mixing. -1:43 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell I think the arts are the best way to bridge the gap between worlds. #litchat -1:44 PM May 14th, 2010

CEMcKenzie1 @CarolyBurnsBass should have circle of writers! What I am trying to start with this: <http://bit.ly/cZU9s8>. Authors helping authors #litchat -1:44 PM May 14th, 2010 brownies1 @LitChat Yes, watching(I mean WATCHING not following) people.Taking pieces of their personality & turning it into an idea & person. #litchat -1:44 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Yes, our writing group WAS like the friends who surrounded Monet. "We stood shoulder to shoulder against the world," Renoir said. #litchat -1:45 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Authors must help authors. But after writing I am happy not to be creative; my husband cooks and I do dishes! #litchat -1:45 PM May 14th, 2010

CarolyBurnsBass Absolutely. LitChat is part of that circle. RT @CEMcKenzie1: ... What I am trying to start with this: <http://bit.ly/cZU9s8>. #litchat -1:46 PM May 14th, 2010

ClaudeOMonet RT @BasseCopette RT @dsaarinen Hey, right now @StephanieCowell (CLAUDE AND CAMILLE) is on #litchat! Being in France - its bedtime for me ;-(-1:46 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell I take lots of me and my life and friends and wind it in my characters. My husband says he sees me in all my characters. (?)! #litchat -1:46 PM May 14th, 2010 dsaarinen @StephanieCowell Yes, I loved the portrayal of the friendship between the artists in C&C. #litchat -1:46 PM May 14th, 2010 alittlesandy RT @StephanieCowell "I think the arts are the best way to bridge the gap between worlds." #litchat -1:46 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell It is VERY late in France...eleven I think! #litchat -1:46 PM May 14th, 2010

CEMcKenzie1 @stephaniecowell it's what I'm finding cool about this - not about me so uses different energy #litchat -1:46 PM May 14th, 2010

ClaudeOMonet @StephanieCowell I think creative groups of all sorts create timeless and wonderful products=synergy??? #litchat -1:47 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell The friendship between impressionists was inspiration to begin CLAUDE&CAMILLE. One of them,Bazille, painted them all in his studio. #litchat -1:48 PM May 14th, 2010

CarolyBurnsBass In your research of the impressionists, did you find any evidence of mean-spirited jealousy? #litchat -1:48 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell This is the equivalent of an intense conversation! I keep expecting you all to appear in my living room! #litchat -1:49 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Mean-spirited jealousy between the impressionists? I can't think of any off hand. As they all got older, there were differences. #litchat -1:50 PM May 14th, 2010

CarolyBurnsBass Our spirit is there, as yours is sitting next to us. RT @stephaniecowell:...I keep expecting you all to appear in my living room! #litchat -1:51 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Oh, I remember Manet whispering to Monet that he didn't think Renoir had any talent, that he ought to be something else. A whisper! #litchat -1:51 PM May 14th, 2010

LexxClarke @stephaniecowell that's one of the great things about this,it's like an online book club where all aspects of lit and books are sub #litchat -1:51 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell If my husband and I expect to find Mozart in his white wig sitting on our sofa, why not all of you?? TimeTravelChat! #litchat -1:52 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Lexx, this is really marvelous. Whatever happened to the lonely writer? Gone with the internet! #litchat -1:52 PM May 14th, 2010 dsaarinen @StephanieCowell I've found many authors in the historical fiction community are VERY supportive of each other in a similar way #litchat -1:52 PM May 14th, 2010

CarolyBurnsBass I think it's natural for artists to pine for success of peers, call it jealousy if you will, while still wanting the best for them. #litchat -1:53 PM May 14th, 2010

CEMcKenzie1 @dsaarinen hopefully it's not just that community!! #litchat -1:53 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell I am quite amazed at how supportive authors in the historical fiction community are of each other! #litchat -1:53 PM May 14th, 2010

CEMcKenzie1 @CarolyBurnsBass natural competitiveness but the more books people buy the more risks publishers can take on new authors #litchat -1:54 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell carolyn, it's true. We want the success of our peers but not to take it away from them. We just want it too...and that's ok. #litchat -1:54 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell About desiring what one's peers have, Shakespeare says "desiring this man's art and that man's scope..." #litchat -1:55 PM May 14th, 2010

CarolyBurnsBass Yes, I want #timetravelchat. Let's all go sit in Monet's garden and write about waterlilies and dragonflies. #litchat -1:55 PM May 14th, 2010 LexxClarke Do you have other novels planned Stephanie? #litchat -1:56 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell One of us on line is close enough to go sit in Giverny whenever he wants! Sigh! Oh to travel with just a thought! #litchat -1:56 PM May 14th, 2010 CarolyBurnsBass I've found for myself, seeing my peers succeed inspires me to work harder to make my work something that will succeed alongside. #litchat -1:56 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell Lexx, I have about 15 at least I want to write. they all jump up and down yelling, "Me next!" But I think the next is Victorian. #litchat -1:57 PM May 14th, 2010 LitChat You beat me to the final question. Thanks for thinking ahead. RT @LexxClarke: Do you have other novels planned Stephanie? #litchat -1:57 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell carolyn, that's a wonderful thought. #litchat -1:57 PM May 14th, 2010 stephaniecowell This hour has gone very quickly! Thanks everyone! Two more minutes! #litchat -1:58 PM May 14th, 2010 dsaarinen @CarolyBurnsBass I agree. I always felt if you surround yourself with successful ppl, some of it might possibly rub off! #litchat -1:58 PM May 14th, 2010
